

Senate Leader Selection Seen DiSalle Victory

CLEVELAND (AP) — Selection of State Sen. Frank W. King of Toledo as Democratic majority leader in the Ohio Senate is being interpreted as a victory for Gov. elect Michael V. DiSalle.

However, the forces of Cuyahoga County Democratic chairman Ray T. Miller wrung a measure of victory from the three-hour caucus Friday at which King was named majority leader.

State Sen. Joseph W. Bartunek of Cleveland, backed by Miller, was picked for the politically important post of clerk of the Ohio Senate.

King's victory was assured before the caucus when State Sen. Charles J. Carney of Youngstown withdrew as a candidate for majority leader. Carney was supported by Miller in opposition to King, who is DiSalle's choice.

There were reports that Carney withdrew his candidacy as a result of pressure from James P. Griffin, director of United Steelworkers Union District 26 at Youngstown. Carney, a 39-year-old organizer for the union, would say only that "reports are far from factual." He said earlier he quit in "the interest of party unity."

DiSalle commented on Toledo: "It is my hope the selections will mean a harmonious working arrangement in the Senate and will be conducive to a good legislative program in Ohio."

The caucus battle began after King's selection as leader of the 20 Senate Democrats and president pro tem of the Senate.

King announced that he would not recognize any nominations for the clerkship inasmuch as the subject of selecting a clerk had not been "specifically mentioned" in the caucus call.

A motion by State Sen. elect William Baker of Dayton to postpone selection of a clerk was defeated 11-9.

In a vote by secret ballot for clerk, Bartunek received 13 votes, Delbert E. Nixon of Jefferson County, who was clerk of the Ohio House in 1949-50, received 5 votes and Edward Welsh, former state senator from Dayton, received 2 votes.

Bartunek, who did not run for re-election this year, was nominated by State Sen. Arthur Blake of Martins Ferry. Instead of running for another Senate term, Bartunek sought a Cuyahoga County commissioner job and lost.

State Sen. Ed Witmer of Canton nominated Nixon.

DiSalle said he would like to see the Senate pass a resolution making the clerkship a full-time job.

He said he doesn't think "any one who is clerk should practice law or represent clients. There is the danger of conflict of interest."

He said he would disapprove strongly of any practice of law by Bartunek, an attorney. The clerk's job pays $12,000 a year.

King said he would appoint a committee on committees and a patronage committee at a later date.

Clear, Colder Weather Follows Heavy Ohio Snow

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
All Ohio lay under a blanket of snow today that ranged from 6 inches in the northern part of the state to a near record 8 1/2 inches in Cincinnati.

The season's first big snow fall was accompanied by a number of deaths from apparent heart attacks. A 57-year-old St. Clairsville man, W. H. Watson, died of a heart attack while putting chains on his tires Friday. In Cleveland, seven men died of apparent heart attacks while out in the storm.

Chester Neal 46, a trusty in the Berea jail, died while shoveling snow in front of the jail. Joseph B. Zingale, 51, died cleaning snow from his parked car in Independence. George Lewis, 70, and Joseph Papotta, 55, University Heights, died in automobiles they were driving, and William Joiner, 36, was stricken in his taxicab.

Max Neuse, 58, Oakwood, suffered an attack while riding a tractor snow plow, and Lim Wing, 60, collapsed on a sidewalk near his home.

For most of the state the heavy snow has ended, but the Weather Bureau warned that the fringe area near Lake Erie can expect locally heavy snow flurries today and Sunday. For the rest of the state the prospect is for clearing skies and colder temperatures.

The storm brought at least one blessing. The long Thanksgiving weekend traffic fatality rate, which climbed alarming Wednesday and Thursday, tapered off drastically as motorists were reduced to crawling speed.

But there were plenty of crumpled fenders, stalled autos and delayed commuters.

In Cincinnati, police reported 76 accidents and six storm-connected injuries Friday.

In Cleveland, police tow trucks were in such demand that during the rush hour they could only push stalled vehicles to the side of the road instead of taking them to garages. An army of snow plows worked through the night Friday in order to prevent a repetition of traffic jams that delayed commuters for hours during the Friday afternoon rush hour.

The Highway Patrol said all state highways and most secondary roads are open, but driving conditions remain extremely hazardous.

Traffic slowed in the big cities, such as Pittsburgh and Cincinnati, as the first major snow storm of the season hammered in midwinter style across a wide stretch from southwestern Ohio to central New York State and into New England.

It was cold, too, not only in the storm belt but in the snow-covered sections of the country from the Rockies through the Midwest.

The South also was frosty as the icy air plunged into the Gulf Coast and temperatures dipped to near freezing and lower along the middle Gulf Coast.

Snow fell on Alabama as the southern edge of the storm, with near freezing temperatures, advanced into the northern part of the state late Friday.

Warm air clung to the Atlantic Coast region during the night. But it was retreating rapidly as the cold air moved southeastward across the Appalachians.

Temperatures were near 70 late Friday night along the Carolina coast. But at Asheville, in western North Carolina, it was chilly with snow flurries and readings in the 20s.

It was below zero again in eastern North Dakota and northern Minnesota. Below freezing readings were reported southward into central sections of Texas and Louisiana. They were in the teens in northern Arkansas.

As the storm struck New England areas, the winds and tides rose. Winds of 40 to 50 m.p.h. and gusts up to 65 m.p.h. lashed some areas. Tides were two to three feet above normal.

Most Roads Clear, but Snow To Remain through Tuesday

Circleville High School's scheduled basketball opener at Athens last night was postponed due to heavy snow and slippery roads.

According to CHS Coach Dick Snouffer, the test is rescheduled for tonight at Athens providing roads are passable.

Coach Snouffer said both schools agreed to postpone the tilt at about 2:30 p. m. yesterday when it became evident that the roads would remain in hazardous condition.

The Athens test will mark Circleville's first game of the season. The first home game is slated Friday when Franklin Heights comes here for a South Central Ohio League battle.

Coach Snouffer said the reserve contest tonight will start at 7 p. m. The varsity battle will follow at about 8 p. m.

Pigeons Give The Bird to City Fathers

TURIN, Italy (AP)—Turin's 80,000 pigeons were giving the bird today to the city fathers.

So City Council voted that 10,000 of them should be caught and donated to such Italian cities as Arezzo, where they've all been eaten, and Mantua, where they've all migrated to Venice.

Pigeon-lovers shrieked in protest. They might as well have spared their voices.

The City Hall's big pigeon hunt started Friday. Crews were equipped with 15-foot nets. Pigeon lovers were out in full-throated force. They hooted, waved their arms and hurled pebbles to put the sitting birds to flight.

At dusk it began to dawn upon the City Council that it had laid an egg.

One hundred pigeons were in the nets, and 79,900 were still flying over City Hall. But the Pigeon roundup resumes today.

form of melted snow amounted to 0.5 inches. The Columbus Weather Bureau predicts 15 to 20 degree temperature for the next four or five days, meaning the area's blanket of white will remain.

The State Highway Department stated that primary state roads were partly clear, but secondary roads were still icy in spots and especially dangerous over hills and around curves.

Nine crews were at work yesterday and today, clearing highways so that the holiday traffic will have a chance to reach home by the first of the week. Four crews worked all night, when traffic was virtually halted.

THE COUNTY Service Department reported all county roads open, but motorists were asked to drive and pass with caution. Some townships roads were open, but most were still covered with snow and ice.

The City Service Department was caught off guard by the heavy snowfall yesterday. Director Carl Radcliff gave his men the Thanksgiving weekend off and could only round up six employees to combat the clogged streets.

Some of the men started at 7 a. m. yesterday, sanding streets and cleaning the intersections. The six-man crew is working today again, sanding the streets, which are covered with a thick layer of ice and snow.

Some city streets with an up-hill grade are virtually impassable and snow thrown against the curbs is 1 to 2 feet high in places.

Clearing and colder is forecast for the weekend, with no snow predicted for the central Ohio area. Due to the heavy precipitation the county is less than a half inch behind in rainfall and only 0.43 inches behind the yearly average.

A total of 2.17 inches of precipitation has fallen upon the county so far this month with yesterday's 0.57 inches of snow the heaviest precipitation in 70 days.

Snowfall Slows Accident Rate

Highway Fatalities Total 13 in Ohio

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ohio's Thanksgiving weekend fatality rate has been slowed almost to a standstill by a heavy snowstorm which covered the state with from 6 to 10 inches of snow.

While there were many fender-benders Friday, traffic was slowed to a crawl, probably resulting in the saving of several lives, the Ohio Highway Patrol reported.

The fatality count, which started at 6 p. m. Wednesday, mounted to 13 traffic deaths by Friday morning—and stayed there the rest of the day.

With the rest of today and all of Sunday to go, the Ohio accidental death count stood at 18, of which 13 were in traffic, three in fires and two in hunting mishaps.

On the national scene, this was the count: 22 in traffic, 23 in fires, 44 miscellaneous for a total of 289.

The number of dead in highway accidents since the start of the weekend Thanksgiving at 6 p. m. Wednesday (local time) showed the total running about normally or slightly below for the corresponding period at this time of year. The count is to continue until midnight Sunday.

The National Safety Council did not make a preholiday estimate of the traffic toll. It said, however, that 470 deaths could be expected in a similar 102-hour non-holiday period.

An Associated Press survey covering the 102-hour period from 6 p. m. Wednesday, Nov. 12 to midnight Sunday, Nov. 16 showed a traffic death toll of 394. Other violent deaths included 32 in fires and 121 from miscellaneous accidents.

Jury Awards $50,000 in Hospital Death

CHARDON, Ohio (AP)—A jury Thursday night awarded a Ford Motor Co. foundry worker $50,000 on his complaint against Corey Memorial Hospital, alleging negligence caused the death of his wife at the hospital in 1956.

Geauga County Common Pleas Court officials said the verdict was the first since a recent Ohio Supreme Court decision holding hospitals liable for employees' errors.

Involved was the death of Mrs. Benjamin B. Piotrowski, 22, of Troy, Geauga County, on Aug. 8, 1956 during a caesarian childbirth operation.

The hospital said the woman's death was due to a heart attack and pulmonary embolism (blood clotting that stopped breathing).

But the plaintiff testified that while his wife was under oxygen, the oxygen was negligently disconnected for 20 minutes.

Dr. Victor A. Wolman, director of Mary B. Talbert Hospital, Cleveland testified the victim's death resulted from oxygen deficiency.

Parley Urged On Entire German Setup

King Gets Top Post; Bartunek Is Named To Become Clerk

BERLIN (AP)—The West should deal with the whole German problem instead of merely reacting to Soviet schemes to gobble West Berlin, Lord Mayor Willy Brandt has advised.

Brandt urged Friday night that the Western powers counter Soviet Premier Khrushchev's plan to neutralize West Berlin in six months, with broad proposals on German unification. The West ought to act quickly because the Soviets "may put on pressure before the end of the six-month period," he said.

The dynamic Socialist mayor of 2,200,000 West Berliners who live 110 miles behind the Iron Curtain made his comments to foreign correspondents. He spoke after receiving firm assurances from many Western leaders of support against the Soviet demand.

Diplomatic reports indicate the Western Big Three will reject Khrushchev's ultimatum—which the Soviet boss denies is an ultimatum. Foreign ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization met in Paris Dec. 16-18 and probably will work out the Western reply.

Khrushchev said Thursday West Berlin should be turned into a "demilitarized free city." He wants the 9,000 U.S., British and French troops here to withdraw while Communist East German troops and Soviet soldiers in the satellite state continue to surround the anti-Communist city.

Vice President Nixon of the United States, supporting Brandt's view, told newsmen in London Friday that "we already have two Germanys" and Khrushchev's plan "would give us three. It would only make the situation worse."

If the West fails to accept the Soviet plan, Khrushchev said, Russia will give East Germany control of supply lines to West Berlin. Any military action against East Germany—apparently including any Western effort to force through convoys to Berlin—would be treated as aggression against the entire Communist bloc, he declared.

Auto Crash On Route 22 Injures Four

Four soldiers headed for Ft. Campbell, Ky., were injured, none seriously, in a one-car crash on Route 22 about five miles west of Amanda at 11:30 p. m. yesterday.

Driver of the car was Vinton Loucks, 23, Scottsdale, Pa. He suffered a laceration on the forehead and chest injuries.

Passengers injured were: Simon Barron, 21, Jacksonburg, W. Va., a deep laceration on the forehead; John Perjak, 20, Mt. Morris, Pa., an ear laceration; and William Roland, 19, Carmichael, Pa., a laceration over the left eye and on the left leg.

The men were admitted to Berger Hospital. Another passenger riding in the car was not injured. Deputy Sheriff Dwight Radcliff said the westbound car apparently attempted to pass another auto, skidded off on the berm and struck a bridge. The left front of the vehicle was demolished, the deputy said.

Winnie's 84th Birthday Cake Being Readied

The design of the creation was kept a closely guarded secret—just as it has been for Sir Winston Churchill's last 20 birthdays.

It will be unveiled at a family tea party at Chartwell, Churchill's country home in Kent.

Student Once Killed 15 Men, Wants To Do It Again, Again

CINCINNATI (AP)—A lonely young man works over a drafting board here by day, studies at night, and dreams a dream of death.

He killed 15 men two years ago. He would like to do it again, and again and again.

He has only two aims: To become an engineer and to return to his native Budapest to help drive communism and the Soviets out of Hungary.

His family still lives in Hungary, so he can't be named.

He says: "I can't go back to Budapest as long as the communists are in control. I had to flee from there or be killed."

"But someday I'll go back, either with American troops or during another revolution."

100-Ton 'Beast' Said 'Perfect' In Long Flight

WASHINGTON (AP)—A mighty Atlas missile streaked 6,325 miles from Florida to a target in the south Atlantic Friday night, showing the world the United States has a fully operational intercontinental ballistic missile.

The feat put the U.S. on a par with Russia which has claimed possession of an ICBM.

The "beast," as the Atlas is nicknamed, sped the distance in only about 30 minutes after roaring away from the Cape Canaveral launching pad.

Announcement that the missile was "successfully test fired for the first time over the full intercontinental range" was made this morning by the Defense Department after a check on data from observers and recording devices spotted along the missile's path.

Later an Air Force spokesman said the missile hit a designated target area after its long roaring flight across the south Atlantic. He added that "all test objectives were achieved essentially 100 per cent." The size of the target area was not disclosed.

The missile's silvertipped nose cone—which in event of war would be a nuclear warhead—dropped into the south Atlantic near Ascension Island.

The huge rocket sped into the Florida sky like a flaming meteor Friday night and remained visible for nearly four minutes as it curved gracefully into the path through the higher atmosphere to its target.

But, despite the very apparent success of the launching at 9:27 p. m., the Defense Department and Air Force waited until today to be absolutely certain before announcing results of the shot.

The Convair Division of the General Dynamics Corp., builder of the Atlas, claimed success of the flight shortly after the launching.

Electronic recording devices spotted on a number of islands and ships showed the progress of the missile over its range. Near Ascension Island, ships and aircraft on patrol watched for the impact of the nose cone.

The successful flight matched Russia's claim of possession of an intercontinental bombing missile. The Atlas blasted off at 9:27 p. m. Friday night. Its exhaust flames cast a dazzling white light over the Florida coast, and for a moment it dimmed a great orange moon that hung nearly full over the firing range.

It appeared to be a perfect launching. "The Beast," as the Atlas is known, curved beautifully away on its thundering course toward the southeast and was in view four minutes before its fuel burned out and its light vanished high in the sky.

A few hours later, in San Diego, Calif., the Convair Division of the General Dynamics Corp.—builder of the Atlas—reported that the 100-ton missile flew the intercontinental range.

"There are no fundamental question marks left in the Atlas program," a statement issued by Convair said.

J. V. Naish, president of the General Dynamics Corp. division which builds the Atlas, declared: "We are now entering upon the last phase—the implementation of the Atlas as a potent deterrent force of the Strategic Air Command."

Naish said this will mean "more test flights, the training of Air Force crews in the techniques of quick launching of the missile and the development of launching sites for the Strategic Air Command."

"But more than this," he said, the flight "clearly demonstrates the Atlas' potential for employment in the peaceful development of scientific vehicles for the exploration of space."

Some of the men started at 7 a. m. yesterday, sanding streets and cleaning the intersections. The six-man crew is working today again, sanding the streets, which are covered with a thick layer of ice and snow.

Some city streets with an uphill grade are virtually impassable and snow thrown against the curbs is 1 to 2 feet high in places.

Clearing and colder is forecast for the weekend, with no snow predicted for the central Ohio area.

Due to the heavy precipitation the county is less than a half inch behind in rainfall and only 0.43 inches behind the yearly average.

A total of 2.17 inches of precipitation has fallen upon the county so far this month with yesterday's 0.57 inches of snow the heaviest precipitation in 70 days.

Snowfall Slows Accident Rate

Highway Fatalities Total 13 in Ohio

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ohio's Thanksgiving weekend fatality rate has been slowed almost to a standstill by a heavy snowstorm which covered the state with from 6 to 10 inches of snow.

While there were many fender-benders Friday, traffic was slowed to a crawl, probably resulting in the saving of several lives, the Ohio Highway Patrol reported.

The fatality count, which started at 6 p. m. Wednesday, mounted to 13 traffic deaths by Friday morning—and stayed there the rest of the day.

With the rest of today and all of Sunday to go, the Ohio accidental death count stood at 18, of which 13 were in traffic, three in fires and two in hunting mishaps.

On the national scene, this was the count: 22 in traffic, 23 in fires, 44 miscellaneous for a total of 289.

The number of dead in highway accidents since the start of the weekend Thanksgiving at 6 p. m. Wednesday (local time) showed the total running about normally or slightly below for the corresponding period at this time of year. The count is to continue until midnight Sunday.

The National Safety Council did not make a preholiday estimate of the traffic toll. It said, however, that 470 deaths could be expected in a similar 102-hour non-holiday period.

An Associated Press survey covering the 102-hour period from 6 p. m. Wednesday, Nov. 12 to midnight Sunday, Nov. 16, showed a traffic death toll of 394. Other violent deaths included 32 in fires and 121 from miscellaneous accidents.

Jury Awards $50,000 in Hospital Death

CHARDON, Ohio (AP)—A jury Thursday night awarded a Ford Motor Co. foundry worker $50,000 on his complaint against Corey Memorial Hospital, alleging negligence caused the death of his wife at the hospital in 1956.

Geauga County Common Pleas Court officials said the verdict was the first since a recent Ohio Supreme Court decision holding hospitals liable for employees' errors.

Involved was the death of Mrs. Benjamin B. Piotrowski, 22, of Troy, Geauga County, on Aug. 8, 1956 during a caesarian childbirth operation.

The hospital said the woman's death was due to a heart attack and pulmonary embolism (blood clotting that stopped breathing).

But the plaintiff testified that while his wife was under oxygen, the oxygen was negligently disconnected for 20 minutes.

Dr. Victor A. Woldman, director of Mary B. Talbert Hospital, Cleveland testified the victim's death resulted from oxygen deficiency.

Parley Urged On Entire German Setup

King Gets Top Post; Bartunek Is Named To Become Clerk

BERLIN (AP)—The West should deal with the whole German problem instead of merely reacting to Soviet schemes to gobble West Berlin, Lord Mayor Willy Brandt has advised.

Brandt urged Friday night that the Western powers counter Soviet Premier Khrushchev's plan to neutralize West Berlin in six months, with broad proposals on German unification. The West ought to act quickly because the Soviets "may put on pressure before the end of the six-month period," he said.

The dynamic Socialist mayor of 2,200,000 West Berliners who live 110 miles behind the Iron Curtain made his comments to foreign correspondents. He spoke after receiving firm assurances from many Western leaders of support against the Soviet demand.

Diplomatic reports indicate the Western Big Three will reject Khrushchev's ultimatum—which the Soviet boss denies is an ultimatum. Foreign ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization met in Paris Dec. 16-18 and probably will work out the Western reply.

Khrushchev said Thursday West Berlin should be turned into a "demilitarized free city." He wants the 9,000 U.S., British and French troops here to withdraw while Communist East German troops and Soviet soldiers in the satellite state continue to surround the anti-Communist city.

Vice President Nixon of the United States, supporting Brandt's view, told newsmen in London Friday that "we already have two Germanys" and Khrushchev's plan "would give us three. It would only make the situation worse."

If the West fails to accept the Soviet plan, Khrushchev said, Russia will give East Germany control of supply lines to West Berlin. Any military action against East Germany—apparently including any Western effort to force through convoys to Berlin—would be treated as aggression against the entire Communist bloc, he declared.

Auto Crash On Route 22 Injures Four

Four soldiers headed for Ft. Campbell, Ky., were injured, none seriously, in a one-car crash on Route 22 about five miles west of Amanda at 11:30 p. m. yesterday. Driver of the car was Vinton Loucks, 23, Scottsdale, Pa. He suffered a laceration on the forehead and chest injuries.

Passengers injured were: Simon Barron, 21, Jacksonburg, W. Va., a deep laceration on the forehead; John Perjak, 20, Mt. Morris, Pa., an ear laceration; and William Roland, 19, Carmichaels, Pa., a laceration over the left eye and on the left leg.

The men were admitted to Berger Hospital. Another passenger riding in the car was not injured. Deputy Sheriff Dwight Radcliff said the westbound car apparently attempted to pass another auto, skidded off on the berm and struck a bridge. The left front of the vehicle was demolished, the deputy said.

Winnie's 84th Birthday Cake Being Readied

LONDON (AP)—A London bakery put the finishing touches to a surprise birthday cake for a distinguished gentleman today.

The design of the creation was kept a closely guarded secret—just as it has been for Sir Winston Churchill's last 20 birthdays.

This year's cake for Britain's wartime leader, who celebrates his 84th birthday Sunday, is different from all the rest, according to intelligence leaks.

It will be unveiled at a family tea party at Chartwell, Churchill's country home in Kent.

Student Once Killed 15 Men, Wants To Do It Again, Again

CINCINNATI (AP)—A lonely young man works over a drafting board here by day, studies at night, and dreams a dream of death.

He killed 15 men two years ago. He would like to do it again, and again and again.

He has only two aims: To become an engineer and to return to his native Budapest to help drive communism and the Soviets out of Hungary.

His family still lives in Hungary, so he can't be named.

He says: "I can't go back to Budapest as long as the communists are in control. I had to flee from there or be killed."

"But someday I'll go back, either with American troops or during another revolution."

"We will free Budapest, which is the most beautiful city in the world, and then free the world. After that, I'll live with my family. I miss them now. Sometimes I cry for them when I am alone."

He was a 19-year-old youth when he led a rebel squad trying to help halt Russian troops and equipment that crushed the rebellion.

He now earns $60 a week at his drafting job and attends Xavier University at night.

100-Ton 'Beast' Said 'Perfect' In Long Flight

WASHINGTON (AP)—A mighty Atlas missile streaked 6,325 miles from Florida to a target in the south Atlantic Friday night, showing the world the United States has a fully operational intercontinental ballistic missile.

The feat put the U.S. on a par with Russia which has claimed possession of an ICBM.

The "beast," as the Atlas is nicknamed, sped the distance in only about 30 minutes after roaring away from the Cape Canaveral launching pad.

Announcement that the missile was "successfully test fired for the first time over the full intercontinental range" was made this morning by the Defense Department after a check on data from observers and recording devices spotted along the missile's path.

Later an Air Force spokesman said the missile hit a designated target area after its long roaring flight across the south Atlantic. He added that "all test objectives were achieved essentially 100 per cent." The size of the target area was not disclosed.

The missile's silvertipped nose cone—which in event of war would be a nuclear warhead—dropped into the south Atlantic near Ascension Island.

The huge rocket sped into the Florida sky like a flaming meteor Friday night and remained visible for nearly four minutes as it curved gracefully into the path through the higher atmosphere to its target.

But, despite the very apparent success of the launching at 9:27 p. m., the Defense Department and Air Force waited until today to be absolutely certain before announcing results of the shot.

The Convair Division of the General Dynamics Corp., builder of the Atlas, claimed success of the flight shortly after the launching.

Electronic recording devices spotted on a number of islands and ships showed the progress of the missile over its range. Near Ascension Island, ships and aircraft on patrol watched for the impact of the nose cone.

The successful flight matched Russia's claim of possession of an intercontinental bombing missile.

The Atlas blasted off at 9:27 p. m. Friday night. Its exhaust flames cast a dazzling white light over the Florida coast, and for a moment it dimmed a great orange moon that hung nearly full over the firing range.

It appeared to be a perfect launching. "The Beast," as the Atlas is known, curved beautifully away on its thundering course toward the southeast and was in view four minutes before its fuel burned out and its light vanished high in the sky.

A few hours later, in San Diego, Calif., the Convair Division of the General Dynamics Corp.—builder of the Atlas—reported that the 100-ton missile flew the intercontinental range.

"There are no fundamental question marks left in the Atlas program," a statement issued by Convair said.

J. V. Naish, president of the General Dynamics Corp. division which builds the Atlas, declared: "We are now entering upon the last phase—the implementation of the Atlas as a potent deterrent force of the Strategic Air Command."

Naish said this will mean "more test flights, the training of Air Force crews in the techniques of quick launching of the missile and the development of launching sites for the Strategic Air Command."

"But more than this," he said, "the flight 'clearly demonstrates the Atlas' potential for employment in the peaceful development of scientific vehicles for the exploration of space."

Circleville Gets $67,739

The Circleville School system received recently the fourth quarterly Ohio state foundation fund distribution totaling $67,739.41, it was announced today by State Auditor James A. Rhodes.

The county school system received $85,109.51. The breakdown to the three school districts was announced earlier.

With the distribution of more than 45 million dollars in school foundation money last week, the state has paid a total of $182,716,733 under the foundation program this year, Rhodes stated.

This is a new high record, exceeding by $6 1/2 million the $176,213,945 paid by the state in 1957. It is almost double expenditures under the foundation program seven years ago.

SCHOOLS RECEIVED $35,866. 688.09 of the November distribution, divided as follows: $15,720.914.24 to city school districts; $17,190.529.97 to local school districts under the county system; $2,955.243.88 to exempted village schools.

In addition to these payments direct to schools, $7,844,643 in foundation funds went to the Teachers Retirement System to cover school boards' contributions for teachers pensions.

$1,539,708 went to the School Employees Retirement System for pensions; $62,172.19 was paid to county board of education, and $12,755.84 went to three state universities to pay for the training of special teachers of deaf, blind and crippled children.

Farm Product Prices Decline

September Downturn Reported Continuing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Farm product prices dipped four-tenths of one per cent this month to continue a downturn started in September when harvest of this year's record farm output began.

These prices still held nearly 4 per cent above a year earlier, but if the present trend continues they may fall below levels of a year ago before the winter is over. Agriculture Department economists say they expect this to happen.

The November declines were confined largely to oranges, hogs, cotton, corn and tobacco. Slight increases were reported by the Agriculture Department for some vegetables, potatoes, apples and milk.

But prices farmers received for meat animals in mid-November remained 18 per cent above year-ago levels. Beef cattle were up more than hogs. The latter brought 94 per cent of parity and hogs 80 per cent in mid-November, compared with 79 and 75 per cent, respectively, a year ago.

The buying power of farm products lost further ground as prices paid by farmers went up another third of one per cent to set a new record. Increases were reported in prices of food, clothing, automobiles, building materials, and replacement cattle.

The relationship between prices of hogs and corn became more favorable to the hog raiser in November than in October this year and November last year.

Hog prices eased off a little but corn dropped more. On the basis of mid-November prices, 100 pounds of live hog would buy 19 bushels of corn. In October, that quantity would buy 17.8 bushels and a year earlier 16.9 bushels.

Generally speaking, the more favorable this relationship for the hog raiser, the more hogs are produced.

French Await Vote In Runoff Election

PARIS (AP)—Frenchmen vote Sunday for the National Assembly which will set the new Fifth Republic on its course. Results of last Sunday's first round voting indicated the new assembly will lean strongly to the right.

In the runoff, 426 deputies for European France will be chosen to sit beside the 39 who won majorities in the preliminary round.

Many leading liberal and moderate politicians were knocked out last Sunday, leaving the prospect of an assembly dominated by the right wing. Premier De Gaulle apparently had hoped for an assembly of moderates leaning to the left.

Though a second well was drilled and put into operation this year, the continued dry fall weather and more users has caused a shortage.

TV Theater Revival Fails

Mrs. John Conte Gets Credit for 'Bravery'

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Mrs. John Conte finally threw in the towel this week on her effort to revive TV's Matinee Theater.

It was considered foolhardy of her to challenge the whole system of television programming. But there are some who think it was pretty brave, too.

Mrs. Conte swung into action when NBC canceled Matinee Theater, a valiant effort to bring hour-long quality dramas in color to daytime TV. The network claimed it had lost millions on the series, which was sustained as a promotion for sales of color sets. Mr. Conte's husband had emceed the show through its two-year history.

Much to the network's dismay, Mrs. Conte announced formation of a foundation for the preservation of Matinee Theater. Her goal: collection of 5 million dollars to return the show to the air.

Her drive drew considerable comment from the press and $312,670 from citizens who were eager to see classic programs return to the arid daytime TV scene. But she gave up this week. Why?

"Because I found myself working day and night for the drive and various chairmen throughout the country were doing the same, but we couldn't succeed," she explained.

"The reason was that we couldn't get our message across. We had done a wonderful job on direct mail appeal and door-to-door, but we were unable to buy commercial time to advertise on TV. NBC told us our copy was unacceptable."

So now she is returning all the money, according to her promise. She has calculated that the cost of so doing can amount to $9,000 in postage and handling.

Despite the failure, Mrs. Conte is not disheartened.

"Every day, I see new indications — in the press and from persons — of a growing realization that women like intelligent TV programming," she said. "I think we've done a lot to promote that feeling. If our little group of home-makers could do that much, there's hope that television can get better."

Play with Fire Kills 5 Kiddies

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Fire started in a trash basket by a youngster playing with matches, the state fire marshal's office said today, caused the deaths of five children.

Chester Stringer investigated the blaze at a home for handicapped children on the northwest outskirts of Oklahoma City.

He said the youngster, Lee Wilhelm, one of those who died in the fire, apparently set the basket on fire accidentally, then his clothing caught fire. The boy, about 6, ran upstairs, apparently spreading the flames which gutted the two-story brick house.

Last Tribute Is Paid to 'Boss Kett'

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Famed inventor and millionaire philanthropist Charles F. Kettering was buried in a simple ceremony Friday.

The season's first snowstorm swirled around a hundred of his closest friends as the body of the automotive genius was laid to rest beside that of his wife Olive, who died in 1946.

Kettering, whose achievements include devising a practical auto self-starter, the electric cash register and anti-knock gasoline, died Tuesday of a cerebral hemorrhage. He was 82.

The funeral service at Christ Episcopal Church began at 2:02 p. m. No eulogy was spoken in the 18-minute service. A few prayers were said and several hymns sung. Red roses covered the casket.

At the cemetery, an employee shoveled a path through the snow from the road to the grave. Bronze-colored chrysanthemums lined the path.

The snowstorm kept many out-of-towners from attending the funeral of the former General Motors research chief. Among those in attendance were Harlow Curtis, former General Motors president; John F. Gordon, present GM president; Alfred P. Sloan Jr., former GM board chairman, and Henry Dupont and Walter S. Carpenter, both GM board members from Wilmington, Del.

Circleville Gets $67,739

The Circleville School system received recently the fourth quarterly Ohio state foundation fund distribution totaling $67,739.41, it was announced today by State Auditor James A. Rhodes.

The county school system received $85,109.51. The breakdown to the three school districts was announced earlier.

With the distribution of more than 45 million dollars in school foundation money last week, the state has paid a total of $182,716,733 under the foundation program this year, Rhodes stated.

This is a new high record, exceeding by $6 1/2 million the $176,213,945 paid by the state in 1957. It is almost double expenditures under the foundation program seven years ago.

SCHOOLS RECEIVED $35,866.—688.09 of the November distribution, divided as follows: $15,720, 914.24 to city school districts; $17,190,529.97 to local school districts under the county system; $2,955,243.88 to exempted village schools.

In addition to these payments direct to schools, $7,844,643 in foundation funds went to the Teachers Retirement System to cover school boards' contributions for teachers pensions.

$1,539,708 went to the School Employees Retirement System for pensions; $62,172.19 was paid to county board of education, and $12,755.84 went to three state universities to pay for the training of special teachers of deaf, blind and crippled children.

Farm Product Prices Decline

September Downturn Reported Continuing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Farm product prices dipped four-tenths of one per cent this month to continue a downturn started in September when harvest of this year's record farm output began.

These prices still held nearly 4 per cent above a year earlier, but if the present trend continues they may fall below levels of a year ago before the winter is over. Agriculture Department economists say they expect this to happen.

The November declines were confined largely to oranges, hogs, cotton, corn and tobacco. Slight increases were reported by the Agriculture Department for some vegetables, potatoes, apples and milk.

But prices farmers received for main animals in mid-November remained 18 per cent above year-ago levels. Beef cattle were up more than hogs. The latter brought 94 per cent of parity and hogs 80 per cent in mid-November, compared with 79 and 75 per cent, respectively, a year ago.

The buying power of farm products lost further ground as prices paid by farmers went up another third of one per cent to set a new record. Increases were reported in prices of food, clothing, automobiles, building materials, and replacement cattle.

The relationship between prices of hogs and corn became more favorable to the hog raiser in November than in October this year and November last year.

Hog prices eased off a little but corn dropped more. On the basis of mid-November prices, 100 pounds of live hog would buy 19 bushels of corn. In October, that quantity would buy 17.8 bushels and a year earlier 16.9 bushels. Generally speaking, the more favorable this relationship for the hog raiser, the more hogs are produced.

French Await Vote In Runoff Election

PARIS (AP)—Frenchmen vote Sunday for the National Assembly which will set the new Fifth Republic on its course. Results of last Sunday's first round voting indicated the new assembly will lean strongly to the right.

In the runoff, 426 deputies for European France will be chosen to sit beside the 39 who won majorities in the preliminary round. Many leading liberal and moderate politicians were knocked out last Sunday, leaving the prospect of an assembly dominated by the right wing. Premier De Gaulle apparently had hoped for an assembly of moderates leaning to the left.

TV Theater Revival Fails

Mrs. John Conte Gets Credit for 'Bravery'

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Mrs. John Conte finally threw in the towel this week on her effort to revive TV's Matinee Theater.

It was considered foolhardy of her to challenge the whole system of television programming. But there are some who think it was pretty brave, too.

Mrs. Conte swung into action when NBC canceled Matinee Theater, a valiant effort to bring hour-long quality dramas in color to daytime TV. The network claimed it had lost millions on the series, which was sustained as a promotion for sales of color sets. Mr. Conte's husband had emceed the show through its two-year history. Much to the network's dismay, Mrs. Conte announced formation of a foundation for the preservation of Matinee Theater. Her goal: collection of 5 million dollars to return the show to the air.

Her drive drew considerable comment from the press and $312,670 from citizens who were eager to see class programs return to the air daytime TV scene. But she gave up this week. Why?

"Because I found myself working day and night for the drive and various chairmen throughout the country were doing the same, but we couldn't succeed," she explained.

"The reason was that we couldn't get our message across. We had done a wonderful job on direct mail appeal and door-to-door, but we were unable to buy commercial time to advertise on TV. NBC told us our copy was unacceptable."

So now she is returning all the money, according to her promise. She has calculated that the cost of so doing can amount to $9,000 in postage and handling.

Despite the failure, Mrs. Conte is not disheartened. "Every day, I see new indications — in the press and from persons — of a growing realization that women like intelligent TV programming," she said. "I think we've done a lot to promote that feeling. If our little group of home-makers could do that much, there's hope that television can get better."

Williamsport Residents Face Water Shortage

Residents of Williamsport this week were urged by their Board of Public Affairs to "go slow" on their use of water, as the supply seemed to be extremely low.

Though a second well was drilled and put into operation this year, the continued dry fall weather and more users has caused a shortage.

The Affairs Board has been attempting to solve the problem and has considered using a well drilled on the Schoedinger land, north of Williamsport.

The well's water is pure, but the Ohio State Department of Health has refused use of the well due to hardness of the water.

Play with Fire Kills 5 Kiddies

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Fire started in a trash basket by a youngster playing with matches, the state fire marshal's office said today, caused the deaths of five children.

Chester Stringer investigated the blaze at a home for handicapped children on the northwest outskirts of Oklahoma City.

He said the youngster, Lee Wilhelm, one of those who died in the fire, apparently set the basket on fire accidentally, then his clothing caught fire. The boy, about 6, ran upstairs, apparently spreading the flames which gutted the two-story brick house.

Last Tribute Is Paid to 'Boss Kett'

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Famed inventor and millionaire philanthropist Charles F. Kettering was buried in a simple ceremony Friday.

The season's first snowstorm swirled around a hundred of his closest friends as the body of the automotive genius was laid to rest beside that of his wife Olive, who died in 1946.

Kettering, whose achievements include devising a practical auto self-starter, the electric cash register and anti-knock gasoline, died Tuesday of a cerebral hemorrhage. He was 82.

The funeral service at Christ Episcopal Church began at 2:02 p. m. No eulogy was spoken in the 18-minute service. A few prayers were said and several hymns sung. Red roses covered the casket.

At the cemetery, an employee shoveled a path through the snow from the road to the grave. Bronze-colored chrysanthemums lined the path.

The snowstorm kept many out-of-towners from attending the funeral of the former General Motors research chief. Among those in attendance were Harlow Curtis, former General Motors president; John F. Gordon, present GM president; Alfred P. Sloan Jr., former GM board chairman, and Henry Dupont and Walter S. Carpenter, both GM board members from Wilmington, Del.

Worship Every Week ---

"The Coming Man" Topic
For First Methodist Sunday

The services at First Methodist Church will open with the worship at 8:30 a. m. followed by Sunday School at 9:30 a. m. and the second worship period at 10:45 a. m. The morning sermon will be on "The Coming Man." Scripture lesson: Isaiah 9:1-7. The Junior choir will sing "The Star Song" by Joseph Roff in the early service.

The Senior Choir will sing the anthem in the second worship period. The congregational hymns are, "Praise, my soul, the King of heaven," Come, Thou long expected Jesus," Hail, to the Lord's anointed."

The final session of the study of the doctrines, disciples, and organization of the Methodist church will be conducted in the adult department during the Sunday School hour.

Trinity Lutheran

This first Sunday in Advent, the duplicate worship services will be conducted by Pastor Carl G. Zehner. The theme he has chosen for his sermon this Sunday at the 8:30 a. m. and 10:45 a. m. services will be "Love's Last Appeal." It will be based on the 12th chapter of St. Mark, the first through the twelfth verse.

The Youth Choir, under the direction of Clifford Kerns, will lead the singing at the early service.

At the late service, the Adult Choir will present the anthem under the direction of Carl C. Leist.

Mrs. Karl Herrmann will preside at the organ at both services.

The Nursery will be open during the late service for small children. Sunday School will be held at 9:30 a. m. with classes for all ages. At the same hour, the Adult Discussion group will meet with the Pastor in his study.

First Baptist

Worship services will be held in the Circleville First Baptist Church at 10:30 a. m. preceded by the Sunday School at 9:30 a. m. Classes for all age groups will be provided in the Sunday School.

"The Power of The Spirit" is the sermon theme chosen by the Rev. Paul White to be presented in the morning worship service. Jesus was speaking to His friends just before He ascended into heaven when He said, "But ye shall receive power after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you: and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judaea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth." Acts 1:8. Jesus does not come down in the flesh, he does come down in the person of the Holy Spirit to convict of sin and to give power to those who have accepted Christ and repented of sin. True repentance and faith must come before a life can be directed by the Holy Spirit.

This is the secret of the power in our churches as well as in our personal lives. We would do well to be obedient to the Bible and believe not every spirit, but try the spirits whether they are of God: because many false prophets are gone out into the world.

The Baptist Training Union begins at 6:30 p. m. followed by the evening worship service at 7:30 p. m. The Lord's Supper will be observed in the evening worship service.

Gospel Center

Special services will be held in the Circleville Gospel Center beginning Sunday through Sunday, December 7th. The Rev. W. S. Snider, pastor of the South High EUB Church, Columbus, will be the guest speaker.

The services will begin at 7:30 p. m. each evening. Special music will be presented by P. Lewis Brevard. He will play his electric Hawaiian console and sing special numbers.

The Rev. O. F. Gibbs will bring the message in the 10:30 a. m. worship service Sunday in absence of the pastor.

Sunday School will be held at 9:30 a. m. with classes for all ages.

First EUB

"God's Love for The World" has been chosen by the Rev. O. F. Gibbs for his sermon subject to be delivered Sunday morning in First Evangelical United Brethren Church. The service begins at 9:30 a. m.

Hymns to be sung by the congregation include, "Fair Lord Jesus," "Love Lifted Me," and "Jesus, the Very Thought of Thee."

A special offering will be received for the trustee fund. Edwin Richardson will assist the pastor in the worship service.

Sunday School in the children's department will convene in the service center at 9:30 a. m. under the direction of Mrs. Robert Dumm. Church school in the youth and adult departments will meet following the worship service. The Boy's and Girl's Fellowship will meet in the service center at 10:35 a. m. Nursery care will be provided for children up to four years old during both the worship hour and Sunday School.

Calvary E.U.B.

The vital relationship between God and his people will be stressed in the morning worship service at Calvary Evangelical United Brethren Church, as the pastor, the Rev. H. Dal Rough, presents the sermon, "The Vine and Its Branches."

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Worship Every Week ---

"The Coming Man" Topic For First Methodist Sunday

The services at First Methodist Church will open with the worship at 8:30 a. m. followed by Sunday School at 9:30 a. m. and the second worship period at 10:45 a. m. The morning sermon will be on "The Coming Man." Scripture lesson: Isaiah 9:1-7. The Junior choir will sing "The Star Song" by Joseph Roff in the early service.

The Senior Choir will sing the anthem in the second worship period. The congregational hymns are, "Praise, my soul, the King of heaven," "Come, Thou long expected Jesus," "Hail, to the Lord's anointed."

The final session of the study of the doctrines, disciples, and organization of the Methodist church will be conducted in the adult department during the Sunday School hour.

The Intermediate and Senior Youth Fellowship meetings will be held at 5:30 p. m. Sunday. The two groups will come together for a study and discussion of Christian Symbols.

Trinity Lutheran

This first Sunday in Advent, the duplicate worship services will be conducted by Pastor Carl G. Zehner. The theme he has chosen for his sermon this Sunday at the 8:30 a. m. and 10:45 a. m. services will be "Love's Last Appeal." It will be based on the 12th chapter of St. Mark, the first through the twelfth verse.

The Youth Church, under the direction of Clifford Kerns, will lead the singing at the early service.

At the late service, the Adult Choir will present the anthem under the direction of Carl C. Leist. Mrs. Karl Herrmann will preside at the organ at both services.

The Nursery will be open during the late service for small children. Sunday School will be held at 9:30 a. m. with classes for all ages. At the same hour, the Adult Discussion group will meet with the Pastor in his study.

First Baptist

Worship services will be held in the Circleville First Baptist Church at 10:30 a. m. preceded by the Sunday School at 9:30 a. m. Classes for all age groups will be provided in the Sunday School.

"The Power of The Spirit" is the sermon theme chosen by the Rev. Paul White to be presented in the morning worship service. Jesus was speaking to His friends just before He ascended into heaven when He said, "But ye shall receive power after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you; and ye shall be witnesses unto me both in Jerusalem, and in all Judaea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost part of the earth." Acts 1:8. Jesus does not come down in the flesh, he does come down in the person of the Holy Spirit to convict of sin and to give power to those who have accepted Christ and repented of sin. True repentance and faith must come before a life can be directed by the Holy Spirit.

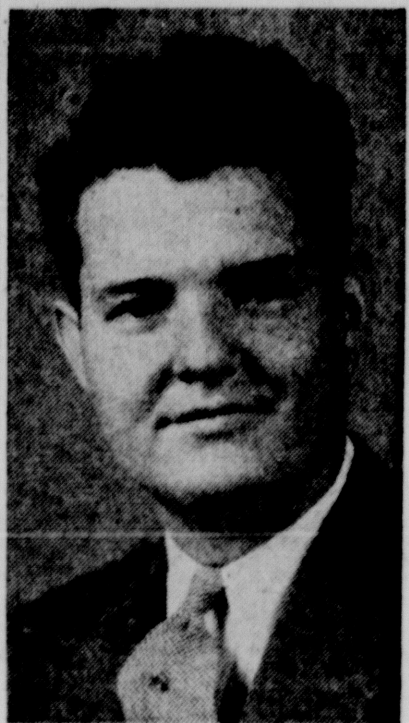

This is the secret of the power in our churches as well as in our personal lives. We would do well to be obedient to the Bible and believe not every spirit, but try the spirits whether they are of God; because many false prophets are gone out into the world.

The Baptist Training Union begins at 6:30 p. m. followed by the evening worship service at 7:30 p. m. The Lord's Supper will be observed in the evening worship service.

Gospel Center

Special services will be held in the Circleville Gospel Center beginning Sunday through Sunday, December 7th. The Rev. W. S. Snider, pastor of the South High EUB Church, Columbus, will be the guest speaker.

No, he doesn't predict the future. From antiquity the prophets have been those who speak for God. In every generation they have explained His promises . . . pointed out His warnings. Some men believed the prophets, and saw God's promises fulfilled. Others were skeptical—until their own bitter experience vindicated God's warnings. No wonder many thought the prophets were reading the future. To every thus saith the Lord a later historian had to add and it came to pass. In a pulpit not far from your home there will stand next Sunday an earnest, thoughtful, consecrated man. He is a prophet! He can't predict whether you'll come to hear him. But he's preparing right now to speak for God—TO YOU. It is the One who calls the prophets who knows . . . whether you'll come . . . whether you'll believe . . . and all the future holds in store for you.

Missile, Space Secrecy Absurd

Many of his former colleagues will wonder where Assistant Secretary of Defense Murray Snyder, who was once a newspaper man, is trying to lay the blame for "premature" publication of reports about space programs, missiles and related military matters.

Mr. Snyder, doubtless correct in saying the American people do not want to receive information relating to sensitive military projects, would have done well to add that most newspapers do not want to publish it.

He knows also, however, that in some instances information which is withheld by one government official is released by another, that some reports and pictures are sometimes "leaked" to "prepare public opinion," and that certain newspapers are sometimes able to get certain information from certain sources.

No one can blame reporters for chafing at a prohibition on the confirmation of the firing of a missile at Cape Canaveral, Fla., which could be seen plainly all along the public beach. A former assistant secretary of defense once declared that the policy of secrecy at Cape Canaveral was so absurd that in some cases Russians knew a great deal more than Americans about what was going on there.

Moreover, there have been instances where facts have been withheld merely because they have failed to fit "policy" situations in the Department of Defense.

All of these things seem to add up not so much to criticism of the nation's newspapers, as of varying Department of Defense policies.

There would seem to be more need for a sensible, impartial and well administered policy in the Department of Defense—Mr. Snyder's office—than for criticism of newspapers from the very spot where the trouble is generated.

Colleges Good Investors

Struggling to keep up with inflation, the nation's colleges have been channeling an increasing amount of their endowment funds into common stocks. Princeton has 57 per cent of its $134 million endowment in common and Harvard has 53 per cent of its $535 million endowment in them.

A Boston concern that has just looked over the investment habits of 47 colleges with the impressive total endowment of $2.6 billion reports that although they are buying more common stocks, they are still conservative. Generally, these 47 colleges are keeping a balance between fixed income securities and common stocks.

Some colleges, with trustees wise in the world of finance and also with favorable tax status, have been pleased with the result of their venture into common stocks. They have been alert to take their profits and shore them up in fixed-income securities when stocks have poised for a downward run, and equally alert to get it back into common stocks when the market poised for the upward climb.

Despite their impressive endowment funds, though, the colleges are still small frogs in the pond of industrial investment. Nothing shows this more clearly than a tally of assets of all the companies with common stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange: $278 billion.

These are the companies that produce all of the nation's automobiles, 99.9 per cent of its aluminum, 90.9 per cent of its copper and 87.3 per cent of its telephones. That some of the fruits of their production should benefit the institutions upon which they draw for some of their brain power seems good.

There could be no more powerful persuasion for the nation's colleges to uphold the philosophy of free enterprise than this obvious dependency upon it. That some of them at times seem something less than loyal toward that system is inexplicable.

Crises for Recognition

By George Sokolsky

The United States is now faced by two problems of recognition: the so-called Quemoy question arises out of the demand by Red China for recognition; the East Germany situation is a demand for recognition.

It is not necessary for one state to recognize another. It is not necessary for one state to consult others concerning recognition of a new state or a new government. As Secretary of State Charles Evans Hughes once said, "... The question of the recognition of a foreign government is purely a domestic one for the United States. ..."

The President of the United States usually recognizes a new state or a belligerent state. However, a treaty between the United States and any other state, new or old, must be ratified by the United States Senate. The fact that the United States does not recognize a country does not mean that there is no intercourse between the two countries. The relations may be of a limited nature. For instance, the United States did not recognize Soviet Russia from 1917 to 1933, but they had communications and there was commerce.

The United States does not presently recognize Red China but has held long conferences with that country, one series at Panmunjom; another at Geneva. On the other hand, the United States never recognized or had communication with Manchukuo when Japan held that country or with East Germany which is a chief of Soviet Russia.

More recognition is a political act and often serves no other purpose than to strengthen the government in office. It does not spell out the details of relationships. That is usually done by a treaty which must be ratified by the Senate and is subject to public discussion in the Senate.

There is no constitutional method by which the United States may have a secret treaty, although Franklin D. Roosevelt and his successors got around that by entering upon a series of Executive Agreements, some of which were of constitutional dubiousness. To correct this unfortunate habit of the Chief Executive, the Bricker amendment was proposed but it never reached consummation.

The general policy of the United States has been "to defer recognition of another executive in its place (i.e. the displaced government) until it shall appear that it is in possession of the machinery of the state, administering the government with the assent of the people thereof and without substantial resistance to its authority, and that it is in a position to fulfill all the international obligations and responsibilities incumbent upon a sovereign state under treaties and international law."

For instance, Red China's conduct during the Korean War would normally preclude recognition. However, the existence of the Soviet Universal State, the doubt as to the independence of Soviet satellites or associated states, the viciousness of Red China's propaganda against the United States, denies recognition under any circumstances.

On the other hand, East Germany is regarded as a mere zone of Germany controlled by Soviet Russia by overwhelming force. The Soviet relationship with Germany is a violation of the Yalta and Potsdam agreements and can only be part of a general settlement of outstanding questions with Soviet Russia. The test of the validity of East Germany's claims would be a plebiscite, under United Nations control and management, to determine if there is popular support for this regime.

There is a great volume of history on the subject of recognition. The United States has not always been consistent in its policy nor does it indeed need to be. After all, a country pursues its own interests and serves its own purposes. Usually a country which seeks recognition holds out great promises, often of wonderful trade opportunities. These have been the tactics of Red China, but such promises usually are meaningless because the national income of the country does not warrant any such assumptions.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt recognized Soviet Russia by an exchange of letters with Maxim Litvinov, Minister of Foreign Affairs of that country. In the course of that exchange each country agreed not to interfere in the internal affairs of the other, a promise which Soviet Russia has consistently violated.

Although the President may recognize a country, he cannot appoint a minister or an ambassador without the consent of the Senate, and an appropriation from Congress, which factually means that recognition cannot be completed without the Congress. This always makes recognition a public and political question which often involves emotional responses.

During the last period of Spanish rule in New Mexico, up to 1822, four kinds of currency were legal. Merchants made large profits by buying with the cheaper pesos and selling for the more expensive pesos.

MRS. MONTMORENCY's new maid, recently imported from Scandinavia, developed a mad crush on the grocery clerk, and felt the impulse to write her first note in the English language. Blushingly, she sought the aid of Mrs. Montmorency.

"Oh, no," giggled the maid, and showed her letter. It read, "Hey, Mike: I am happy to go dance with you Satday. Wheat all my loaf. Ingrid."

New Drugs Aiding Doctors

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.
A new antibiotic which kills germs resistant to older "wonder drugs," a tablet for use in controlling swelling and inflammation and a drug for treating senile psychoses are the developments I want to discuss today in our monthly review of medicine.

The antibiotic is kanamycin, or Kantrex as it is called commercially. It has been found effective in treating a long list of infections, including certain types of pneumonia, kidney and bladder infections, infections of the blood stream, the heart, bones and soft tissues.

Investigators report that many persons treated successfully with the new drug had been suffering from severe infections which older antibiotics failed to cure.

Kanamycin first came to public attention late last March, when it was used in an emergency to halt an epidemic of infant infections in Houston, Texas, hospital. The drug has been undergoing tests by 50 clinical investigators for many months.

The drug tablet for use in controlling swelling and inflammation and reducing pain and speeding the healing process is Buccal Vari-dase.

It is reported to be effective in treating swelling associated with bruises, bronchitis, abscesses, phlebitis, acne and other inflammatory conditions.

The tablet is not swallowed, but allowed to dissolve in the patient's mouth while held against the cheek (the buccal pouch). This permits the drug to be absorbed into the body through the mucous membrane.

While the drug has been on the market for several years in injection form, this is the first time it is being made available as a tablet.

Use of Nicotol with Reserpine provides a highly effective treatment for senile psychoses, according to clinical and pharmacological studies. Many patients who would require institutional care can be managed at home with this new therapy.

The therapy relieves agitation, confusion, aggressiveness and restlessness. At the same time, it improves memory, behavior, sociability and even appearance and tidiness.

Question and Answer

A. E. R.: I crave chocolates and eat six a day. Are they harmful to my system?

Answer: Chocolates are a source of energy and calories. In moderation, they are a concentrated food. In excess, they may lead to overweight, with all its harmful consequences.

It is well to get most of your food calories from the standard foods.

GI Insurance Dividends OKd

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dividends totaling 256 million dollars will be paid during 1959 to more than five million veterans holding participating government GI life insurance policies.

Sumner G. Whittier, veterans administrator, today said the dividends are primarily a refund of part of the premium payments.

He added this was made possible because the death rate among policyholders continues to be lower than the tables upon which the premiums were based. The 1959 dividends will be paid as soon as possible after the anniversary date of each policy.

Mechanization Helps Business

NEW YORK (AP) — Business is pulling out of the recession more mechanized than ever.

Despite the much-advertised slowdown in business spending for new production capacity, industry today boasts many new processes perfected in the last year and new short cuts in methods of doing old jobs.

The year has brought new giant tools, conveyers, mixers, electronic controls and measuring devices.

The recession itself has given impetus to much of the gains and sparked much of the new automatic equipment placed on the market.

The first noticeable result has been that we are able today to produce more things with fewer men. This, on the one hand, keeps the problem of unemployment to the fore. But on the other, it has helped hold back the tide of inflation.

The new wonders run all the way from a vending machine that can make change for a dollar bill to a block of cattle salt in which is automatically imbedded a precisely measured ration of nutrients, hormones and other essentials for the wellbeing of Old Bossey.

The currency changing machine is made by National Rejectors Inc. of St. Louis. The automatic batching device is a product of Fairbanks, Morse & Co.

Other new examples of automation: Rockwell Mfg. Co. makes a machine which lets a customer order any desired color from among 1,152 possible choices, mixing it by spinning a dial.

Pullman-Standard has a heavy duty, highly automated seam welding machine which can cradle a 30-ton freight car, turn it around and seam-weld everything that formerly used to be riveted.

Republic Steel has highly automated equipment for enameling sheet metal. It uses an electrostatic method which draws the finishing material to the metal. It claims a more uniform, more durable, more economical and less messy process than the old one.

Liquor Agency Curbs Expenses

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — By eliminating a few office expenses, the Ohio Department of Liquor Control has been able to reduce its operation costs by $11,000 a year, says Director Floyd C. Moon.

The department has saved $9,695 by eliminating the printing on the back of purchase slips, $2,000 by modernizing its method of handling renewal applications each year from permit holders, and $1,250 by eliminating the use of envelopes in sending out a quarterly newsletter to 23,000 permit holders. Moon said. Now the addresses are placed directly on the folded newsletters.

Missile, Space Secrecy Absurd

Many of his former colleagues will wonder where Assistant Secretary of Defense Murray Snyder, who was once a newspaper man, is trying to lay the blame for "premature" publication of reports about space programs, missiles and related military matters.

Mr. Snyder, doubtless correct in saying the American people do not want to receive information relating to sensitive military projects, would have done well to add that most newspapers do not want to publish it.

He knows also, however, that in some instances information which is withheld by one government official is released by another, that some reports and pictures are sometimes "leaked" to "prepare public opinion," and that certain newspapers are sometimes able to get certain information from certain sources.

No one can blame reporters for chafing at a prohibition on the confirmation of the firing of a missile at Cape Canaveral, Fla., which could be seen plainly all along the public beach. A former assistant secretary of defense once declared that the policy of secrecy at Cape Canaveral was so absurd that in some cases Russians knew a great deal more than Americans about what was going on there.

Moreover, there have been instances where facts have been withheld merely because they have failed to fit "policy" situations in the Department of Defense.

All of these things seem to add up not so much to criticism of the nation's newspapers, as of varying Department of Defense policies.

There would seem to be more need for a sensible, impartial and well administered policy in the Department of Defense—Mr. Snyder's office—than for criticism of newspapers from the very spot where the trouble is generated.

Colleges Good Investors

Struggling to keep up with inflation, the nation's colleges have been channeling an increasing amount of their endowment funds into common stocks. Princeton has 57 per cent of its $134 million endowment in common and Harvard has 53 per cent of its $535 million endowment in them.

A Boston concern that has just looked over the investment habits of 47 colleges with the impressive total endowment of $2.6 billion reports that although they are buying more common stocks, they are still conservative. Generally, these 47 colleges are keeping a balance between fixed income securities and common stocks.

Some colleges, with trustees wise in the world of finance and also with favorable tax status, have been pleased with the result of their venture into common stocks. They have been alert to take their profits and shore them up in fixed-income securities when stocks have poised for a downward run, and equally alert to get it back into common stocks when the market poised for the upward climb.

Despite their impressive endowment funds, though, the colleges are still small frogs in the pond of industrial investment. Nothing shows this more clearly than a tally of assets of all the companies with common stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange: $278 billion.

These are the companies that produce all of the nation's automobiles, 99.9 per cent of its aluminum, 90.9 per cent of its copper and 87.3 per cent of its telephones. That some of the fruits of their production should benefit the institutions upon which they draw for some of their brain power seems good.

There could be no more powerful persuasion for the nation's colleges to uphold the philosophy of free enterprise than this obvious dependency upon it. That some of them at times seem something less than loyal toward that system is inexplicable.

Since time is everlasting, I wonder why we are allotted so little of it?

Crises for Recognition

The United States is now faced by two problems of recognition: the so-called Quemoy question arises out of the demand by Red China for recognition; the East Germany situation is a demand for recognition.

It is not necessary for one state to recognize another. It is not necessary for one state to consult others concerning recognition of a new state or a new government. As Secretary of State Charles Evans Hughes once said, "... The question of the recognition of a foreign government is purely a domestic one for the United States. ..."

The President of the United States usually recognizes a new state or a belligerent state. However, a treaty between the United States and any other state, new or old, must be ratified by the United States Senate.

The fact that the United States does not recognize a country does not mean that there is no intercourse between the two countries. The relations may be of a limited nature. For instance, the United States did not recognize Soviet Russia from 1917 to 1933, but they had communications and there was commerce.

The United States does not presently recognize Red China but has held long conferences with that country, one series at Pannunjom; another at Geneva. On the other hand, the United States never recognized or had communication with Manchukuo when Japan held that country or with East Germany which is a fief of Soviet Russia.

More recognition is a political act and often serves no other purpose than to strengthen the government in office. It does not spell out the details of relationships. That is usually done by treaty which must be ratified by the Senate and is subject to public discussion in the Senate.

There is no constitutional method by which the United States may have a secret treaty, although Franklin D. Roosevelt and his successors got around that by entering upon a series of Executive Agreements, some of which were of constitutional dubiousness. To correct this unfortunate habit of the Chief Executive, the Bricker amendment was proposed but it never reached consummation.

For instance, Red China's conduct during the Korean War would normally preclude recognition. However, the existence of the Soviet Universal State, the doubt as to the independence of Soviet satellites or associated states, the viciousness of Red China's propaganda against the United States, denies recognition under any circumstances.

ADHESIVE-COATED tissue, applied over nail, guards against breaking. Allow about an hour to "slip cover" the nails.

'Slip-Covering' Nails Helps to Protect Them

By JEANNE D'ARCY

Does typing wear your nails down to a mere nothing? Housework keep them stubby?

Then we've good news! You can get nails to grow—and without retreating to an Ivory Tower to pursue a life of absolute leisure.

There is a catch of course. If you want nails long, tapered and lovely, you must take care.

Step No. 1 takes time. It involves "slip-covering" nails to protect them. The two aids needed—tissues (slip covers) and a fluid that reinforces nails and protects them from splitting, breaking and peeling—come in a nail care kit.

Here's how to use it: Shape nails into a gentle oval, smoothing away rough edges with an emery board.

Tear off a wedge-shaped piece of the tissue included in the kit. The wide end of the tissue should be slightly wider than the nail itself.

Saturate the tissue with the adhesive liquid, then lay the tissue flat on the nail, with the fibres running vertically. Tuck the edges underneath to form a tiny cap over the entire nail tip. When dry, you can apply polish right over the "slip cover," which will last through about four manicures.

You can use tissues and liquid to mend split or broken nails, too.

That's the start of your longer-nail campaign, and it's the most time-consuming step. The rest of the routine, applying nail-building cream, takes just seconds each day. That's all the time needed to massage it into the base of each nail. Work it in while you watch TV or talk on the telephone. It's almost quicker than said.

What will it do? Help nails grow stronger, cuticles become softer. It contains iodine and lanolin.

Finally, follow up on your good work by giving nails a thorough manicure every week or every two weeks. Polish protects them, s don't stop at one cut. Apply a base coat, two coats of polish and a sealer coat. Each night, add another topcoat of sealer until it's time to apply remover and start anew.

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am a girl 22; and my problem is my parents. My father, who always has been a man respected by all as the perfect family man, has become involved with a woman who is supposed to be a friend of the family.

I have been close to my father always, but I cannot bring myself to tell him what the gossips are saying about him and this woman. I am sure neither of them realize they are being the topic of conversation.

My mother seems to be totally unaware of the situation. What shall I do?

D.C.

DEAR D.C.: Tradition ally, a man's wife is always the last to know about "another woman" in the picture. So perhaps your mother really is totally unaware (as you say) of the situation you report.

But on the other hand, maybe she is aware, and closing her eyes deliberately to a problem she hasn't the courage to face just now—for fear she might be the loser, if she forced the issue. If such is her ostrich-like choice, it may be a justified course from her view, on the theory that "least said, soonest mended," if, as and when the infatuation blows over.

As for what you might do—it seems to me that you are in a key position to say the word that might rescue your dad from this wayward drift. That is, if he can be saved from temptation; if it is not too late, in terms of weakened character; if he still is able to choose right against wrong, and govern his behavior by a set of the will.

Nothing ventured, nothing gained. So speak out. What to say? Well, something to this effect: "Dad, I wonder if you know what the gossips are saying about you and Mrs. Blank—who is supposed to be our family friend? I thought if you did know, maybe you could somehow put a stop to it; because I don't know what to say, when people speak of it to me. It is very embarrassing and I am worried about mother, if it comes to her ears. I am sure she hasn't heard anything yet." And so on.

That will give him food for thought, without assailing his dignity. If he has any common sense left, he will be grateful for your attempt to rally it. And if he has not, Providence will give you credit for trying.

Brown Gang On Prowl in Pro Grid Loop

Another East Division
Pennant Eyed as Ohio
Crew Meets Redskins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
You National Football League Eastern Division clubs, particularly Washington, look out Sunday! The Brown gang — Cleveland, Paul and Jimmy — are on the prowl.

This trio, Jimmy the fullback who plays for Paul the coach of the Cleveland Browns, has set its sights on an eighth division title in nine years and plans to use the Washington Redskins as a springboard when they get together in Cleveland.

The Browns are a game ahead of the second-place New York Giants and must keep winning lest the Giants catch up before the two meet Dec. 14 in New York. Cleveland has a 7-2 record, New York 6-3.

The Baltimore Colts also have the same idea in the Western Division. They entertain the San Francisco 49ers in their season home finale and a victory would clinch at least a tie for the Western title.

Baltimore, with an 8-1 record, can go a step further and grab all the marbles if the Chicago Bears, 6-3, fall before the Pittsburgh Steelers in Pittsburgh.

New York meets the Philadelphia Eagles and the Los Angeles Rams play the Cards in Chicago. Detroit defeated Green Bay 24-14 Thanksgiving Day and is idle until next weekend.

Jimmy Brown leads the NFL in rushing and every yard he gains establishes a record. Two weeks ago he broke the record formerly held by Eagles blockbuster Steve Van Buren, of 1,146 yards. He now has 1,229 yards.

Baltimore which has lost only two games, still has two more chances on the West Coast against Los Angeles and the 49ers to put a ribbon in its first divisional title.

Pittsburgh's Steelers, sparked by quarterback Bobby Layne, has a four-game winning streak that has carried them to third place in the Eastern Division. The Bears, paying their first visit to Pittsburgh since 1947, has added Rudy Bukich, ex-Redskin, to a quarterback crew that includes Zeke Bratkowski, Ed Brown and George Blanda.

Los Angeles hopes to get back on the beam after a second half whipping last week by the Colts. The Cards, tied with the Eagles for the bottom of the Eastern Division with a 2-6 record, have only a tie to show in their last five games.

Clemson Seen Getting Bid To Sugar Bowl

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Sugar Bowl, freed from a ban on interracial sports, still was expected to choose Clemson today to face Louisiana State in the Jan. 1 game.

A federal court ruling Friday knocked out Louisiana's 1956 law banning competition between white and Negro athletes.

However, a ruling by the LSU Board of Supervisors bans the team from playing integrated teams not only in Louisiana but also outside the state.

The federal court ruling did not touch a phase of the law which bans segregated seating at sports events in the state. That was expected to rule out the possibility of getting eighth-ranked Air Force which was expected to go to the Cotton Bowl anyway.

The Sugar Bowl, however, does not require racial identification before a ticket is bought. A few years ago it removed a stipulation printed on most of its tickets that they could be used "only by the Caucasian race."

Navy played in the Sugar Bowl in 1955 when segregated seating was enforced and before the law banning interracial athletics went into effect.

The Defense Department declined comment on the segregation ruling. The Army previously said it would not accept any bowl invitation from anyone.

The segregation ruling came in a case filed by Negro boxer Joe Dorsey who contended the law was jeopardizing his career. The decision was signed by Judge John Minor Wisdom of the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals and U.S. District Judges Herbert Christenberry and J. Skelly Wright.

Bucks Place 2 Men On All Big 10

CHICAGO (AP)—Big Ten champion Iowa and four other schools — Ohio State, Wisconsin, Purdue and Northwestern — each placed two players on the 1958 all-Western Conference football team selected today by The Associated Press.

In the aftermath of one of the league's most mixed-up campaigns in years, AP sports writers in the Big Ten area could agree wholeheartedly on only two players — quarterback Randy Duncan of Iowa and fullback Bob White of Ohio State.

Yet, both Duncan and White missed unanimous choice by one first-team vote among the 12 balloting writers. Illinois' phenomenal pass-grabbing end, Rich Kreitling, missed a sweep by only two first-team votes.

Iowa also placed a slick sophomore, halfback Willie Fleming, while Ohio State's other AP first team choice was end Jim Houston, rated the finest wingman in Buckeye history. The honor team had only four seniors as five juniors and two sophomores made the grade.

Duncan was the only senior in the all-Big Ten backfield which had junior Ron Burton of Northwestern paired with Fleming at halfback, as well as junior White at fullback.

Tackle Andy Cvercko of Northwestern rounded out the all-Big Ten line which averaged 215 pounds.

Aussie Cools Off Yank Sensation

SYDNEY (AP)—Wimbledon and U.S. champion Ashley Cooper of Australia halted the sensational winning streak of 18-year-old Earl Buchholz, of St. Louis, today by winning the New South Wales tennis championship 6-0, 6-1, 7-9, 6-2.

Obviously nervous and well below the form which marked his earlier victories over teammate Alex Olmedo and Australians Mal Anderson and Roy Emerson, the young American junior proved no match for the hard hitting Aussie Davis Cupper.

Buchholz was able to win only 10 points in the first set and 12 in the second before he mustered a brief but shortlived rally which won him the third.

Flyweight Champ Offered Match

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Argentina's Pascual Perez, world flyweight champion, has been offered a fight here next year, regardless of whether he whips Dommy Ursua in Manila Dec. 15.

Matchmaker Geroge Parnassus of the Olympic Club suggested Perez meet Mario de Leon, 112-pound champion of Mexico, if he beats Ursua. He offered the Argentine boxer a $30,000 guarantee. Perez stopped here en route to his Philippines assignment.

Stars Tee Off In Golf Tourney

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Stars of the entertainment world tee off today in a 36-hole golf tournament billed as the first "World Entertainment Championships."

Such amateur golfers as Bob Hope, Ray Bolger, Ray Milland, Bob Crosby, James (Maverick) Garner, Howard Keel, Bob Sterling, Curt Massey, Phil Harris and Johnny Weissmuller are slated to compete today and Sunday at the Los Coyotes Country Club.

ALWAYS IN A RUSH - By Alan Mavor

Crushed Legs Fail To Halt Cage Coach

BIGFORK, Minn. (AP) — Fourteen years ago Jim McGarry lay writhing alongside a St. Paul railroad track, his legs crushed by a switch engine he failed to see as he was chasing a ball.

A few hours later he was given the last rites of his church. But he recovered and, although the amputation of both of his legs ended forever his dreams of stardom in sports, he vowed never to leave athletics.

A few days ago 27-year-old Jim McGarry sat in a wheelchair and watched his Bigfork basketball team defeat Littlefork 58-45 for his first victory as a high school coach.

"It's like every new coach feels," McGarry said. "You're glad to get the chance to prove yourself."

This is all the husky, smiling young man has ever asked. Within a few years after his operation he was playing basketball from a wheelchair and excelled in the sport.

In 1949, when wheelchair basketball was thriving because of World War II casualties, McGarry averaged 25 points a game. His team, the "Rolling Gophers," gained the finals of the National Wheelchair Tournament and Jim was named to the all-star team.

After graduating from St. Thomas in St. Paul, he came to this northwoods hamlet to become a history instructor and assistant coach. Now he is head coach.

Baylor's Output Averages 25 Now

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Minneapolis' Elgin Baylor, a rookie in the National Basketball Assn., is finding the professional game very much similar to the college variety.

One of the most prolific scorers in the country last year as a collegian, the All-America has turned into one of the top point-getters in the pro league.

The former Seattle star Friday night scored 26 points as he led the Lakers to a 114-93 victory over Cincinnati. The output raised his league leading point total to 449, an average of almost 25 points a game.

In the only other game, Detroit defeated Syracuse 101-93.

Crushed Legs Fail To Halt Cage Coach

BIGFORK, Minn. (AP) — Fourteen years ago Jim McGarry lay writhing alongside a St. Paul railroad track, his legs crushed by a switch engine he failed to see as he was chasing a ball.

A few hours later he was given the last rites of his church. But he recovered and, although the amputation of both of his legs ended forever his dreams of stardom in sports, he vowed never to leave athletics.

A few days ago 27-year-old Jim McGarry sat in a wheelchair and watched his Bigfork basketball team defeat Littlefork 58-45 for his first victory as a high school coach.

"It's like every new coach feels," McGarry said. "You're glad to get the chance to prove yourself."

This is all the husky, smiling young man has ever asked. Within a few years after his operation he was playing basketball from a wheelchair and excelled in the sport.

In 1949, when wheelchair basketball was thriving because of World War II casualties, McGarry averaged 25 points a game. His team, the "Rolling Gophers," gained the finals of the National Wheelchair Tournament and Jim was named to the all-star team.

After graduating from St. Thomas in St. Paul, he came to this northwoods hamlet to become a history instructor and assistant coach. Now he is head coach.

Baylor's Output Averages 25 Now

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Minneapolis' Elgin Baylor, a rookie in the National Basketball Assn., is finding the professional game very much similar to the college variety.

One of the most prolific scorers in the country last year as a collegian, the All-America has turned into one of the top point-getters in the pro league.

The former Seattle star Friday night scored 26 points as he led the Lakers to a 114-93 victory over Cincinnati. The output raised his league leading point total to 449, an average of almost 25 points a game.

In the only other game, Detroit defeated Syracuse 101-93.

Condemned Man's Pleading Brings New Legal Action

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A condemned man's plea for legal help to stay out of Ohio's electric chair is getting action.

Yet it may be of no avail to Walter J. Byomin. The 42-year-old Cleveland is in Ohio Penitentiary under death sentence for killing Deputy Edmund G. Smith in Wellington on May 4, 1957.

Delayed Action Drunk Claimed by Arrested Driver

RANDERS, Denmark (AP)—A local businessman contends that he's a delayed action drunk because of a stomach operation.

"When I drink I'm like a time bomb," he told a Randers court today. "Since doctors removed the greater part of my stomach, I don't get drunk like other people. I am sober when others in the party are loading up, and I get drunk while the others have hangovers."

A sobriety test taken hours after the man was involved in a traffic accident showed a high percentage of alcohol in his blood. He said he felt intoxicated at the time of the test but that he was sober when he drove his car—because of the reduced stomach.

Doctors said he may have a point. The judge postponed court action until next week.

GIs Donate 65-Foot Window for Church

ULM, Germany (AP)—A 65-foot-high church window donated by American soldiers to Ulm Cathedral was unveiled today.

The window depicts biblical scenes. Soldiers of the U.S. Army's 47th Infantry Regiment, which left Germany two years ago and is now stationed at Ft. Carson, Colo., collected $5,000 for the window.

Although Ulm was heavily bombed during World War II, the cathedral suffered little damage, with the exception of its colorful windows.

Court has turned him down. President William R. Van Aken of Cleveland said the Ohio State Bar Assn. had looked into the case and decided not to intervene. "We have complete confidence in the courts," he explained.

Van Aken said the association's executive committee would meet in Columbus next Friday to consider a program for handling the cases of condemned men and long-term prisoners who can't afford counsel. He said legal aid societies were not equipped to handle such cases.

"We don't want anyone to go to the chair without having exhausted all the efforts the law allows," Van Aken said, "but we can't act as a sort of super-court."

Van Aken said his executive committee devoted more time to

Greek Girl, 10, Adopted by Cons

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP)—A 10-year-old girl who lives in a remote mountain village in Greece will get a letter, gifts and money for a big Christmas party from her 5,000 "dads" in the United States—but no visit.

The "dads" are San Quentin Prison convicts.

The men "adopted" Diamanto Samartzis in September through Foster Parents Plan, Inc., a New York charity organization. They donated $1,400 for her support, from which she gets $15 a month.

For a Christmas party the little girl will get $25 extra from the fund which will buy quite a bit in Greece.

"It's something like handing a kid $25 to go to the candy store," a prison official said.

A Christmas package will contain presents, mostly handmade by the prisoners.

Trotter and Sulky Found on City Avenue

YONKERS, N. Y. (AP)—Thanks giving night motorists on Central avenue, which adjoins the New York State Thruway, were startled when a driveless horse, pulling a sulky, stopped obediently at a red traffic light at Mile Square road.

It developed the horse was Perry Mac, a 4-year-old trotter, who was supposed to race in the third race at Yonkers Raceway. He had broken loose from his groom after a warmup on the track.

$30 Million Balance Due To Await DiSalle

Most of It Expected To Evaporate Quickly, Financier Reports

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Michael V. DiSalle can look forward to a balance of about 30 million dollars in the state's house-keeping funds when he becomes governor in mid-January. But most of that will evaporate quickly when the Legislature makes deficiency appropriations.

Gov. C. William O'Neill expects to have a 30-million-dollar balance in the general fund for state operations when he leaves office.

His finance director, John A. Skipton, says that estimate may be conservative. Looking ahead to the last half of the state's book-keeping year, ending next June 30, Skipton adds:

"Revenues in the next six months will meet current expenses if our policies are followed. The balance plus revenues will be enough to meet all expenses under the present budget."

"The nub of Skipton's policy is control over spending. After the recession caused state income to shrink, Skipton ordered directors to hold spending each month below one-twelfth of their annual appropriation. That limitation and various economies assures a balance, he explains.

Skipton admits that his policy, if followed, will leave only a small surplus at the end of the fiscal year.

The state budget, prepared in February 1957, was revised and passed by the Legislature the following June—before the recession. Sentiment against piling up state surpluses resulted in a budget that anticipated only an eight-million-dollar surplus at the end of the biennial period next year.

"We have to assume there will be less than eight million dollars left," Skipton said. "There is no question in my mind about a balance, but it may be very small."

Such a condition would mark the first time in about 15 years for Ohio to lack a sizable surplus. It exceeded 160 million dollars in 1947. The net stood slightly above 100 millions in mid-1949 when the state changed to a fiscal year starting July 1. O'Neill had a 46-million-dollar balance when his budget went into effect July 1, 1957, but it was down to 38 million the first of this month.

Skipton said it would be under 1 million the first of next month but predicted the level "will be back up to about 30 millions by the end of December."

"Tax collection trends of today indicate that my prediction is a safe one. They are better than expected to make it true," he asserted.

Sales taxes, biggest single source of state revenue, jumped ahead of the weekly collection period last year for the first time in mid-November. But cumulative collections still trailed those for the same period last year by nearly seven million dollars.

State Treasurer Roger W. Tracy said Ohio, since last July, spent some five million dollars more from general funds for normal operations than it took in. He said over-all state revenues so far in this fiscal year were nearly 11 million dollars below those received in the same period last year.

Beaver, founded in 1910 by a Japanese trader, was originally a point of supply on the Yukon River for the Chandalar gold mines.

A group of young church volunteers—men and women—flew north. They worked 48-hour weeks, without pay, sawing lumber, building houses and driving tractors in the work camp.

In a large log cabin loaned by a trader the group cooked, ate and gathered in the evenings. They slept in three canvas huts.

Dr. John Ferger, Dryden, N.Y., was the camp leader. When he wasn't doing carpentry he maintained a clinic where his main job was pulling teeth.

Only a couple of the campers had more than the most rudimentary skill in handling tools. Three well-trained men from the village taught the group how to build cabins.

No one grumbled or shirked when the work proved to be harder than practically anybody expected. Some of the girls, including the youngest, 17-year-old Anore Bucknell of Seattle, learned to drive tractors.

By the end of summer the crew completed 11 cabins and had begun two others. They left a supply of materials for the villagers to finish the remaining pair.

Ohio Air Guard Slated To Train In Wisconsin

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's 2,000 or so Air National Guardsmen will spend their two-week summer encampment at Volk Field, near Camp Douglas, Wis., next year, instead of Phelps Collins ANG Base at Alpena, Mich.

Guard officials announced the change today, but they said the dates for the annual field exercise will not be set until January.

The Ohio ANG has been going to Alpena since 1953.

Taking part in the field exercises at Volk field will be Ohio's 166th Tactical Fighter Squadron from Columbus, the 162nd from Springfield and the 164th from Mansfield, plus units of the 181st Tactical Fighter Wing from Akron, Canton, Columbus, Springfield and Mansfield.

'Little Rock 9' Get Education Despite Fuss

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Five of the seven Negro pupils eligible to attend the closed Central High School here are taking correspondence courses from the University of Arkansas. The other two are enrolled at schools in other states.

Mrs. L. C. Bates, state president of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, said Carlotta Walls, Melba Pattillo, Thelma Mothershead, Elizabeth Eckford and Jefferson Thomas registered for mail courses last week and began studies this week with tutors.

Terrance Roberts enrolled at a Los Angeles high school shortly after Gov. Orval E. Faubus closed Little Rock's four high schools to prevent integration. Gloria Ray recently began attending classes in Kansas City, Mo.

Ernest Brown, the only Negro to be graduated from Central last year, is attending Michigan State University on a scholarship.

The last of the famed "Little Rock Nine," Minnijean Brown, attends the integrated New Lincoln private school in New York City. She received a scholarship to this school last year after she was expelled from Central because of racial incidents.

Stage star Katharine Cornell's father, Dr. Peter C. Cornell, began his career as a manager in a theater. He was a famed surgeon.

Condemned Man's Pleading Brings New Legal Action

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A condemned man's plea for legal help to stay out of Ohio's electric chair is getting action.

Yet it may be of no avail to Walter J. Byomin. The 42-year-old Cleveland is in Ohio Penitentiary under death sentence for killing Deputy Edmund G. Smith in Wellington on May 4, 1957.

Byomin's letter from death row to the U. S. Supreme Court got him a 90-day stay from his scheduled Nov. 7 electrocution. He complained that he could not get legal help to appeal his first degree murder conviction to the highest court in the land. Ohio's Supreme Court has turned him down.

President William R. Van Aken of Cleveland said the Ohio State Bar Assn. had looked into the case and decided not to intervene. "We have complete confidence in the courts," he explained.

Van Aken said the association's executive committee would meet in Columbus next Friday to consider a program for handling the cases of condemned men and long-term prisoners who can't afford counsel. He said legal aid societies were not equipped to handle such cases.

"We don't want anyone to go to the chair without having exhausted all the efforts the law allows," Van Aken said, "but we can't act as a sort of super-court."

Van Aken said his executive committee devoted more time to the case of Byomin and others than to association business. Before the U. S. Supreme Court acted, he wrote to Gov. C. William O'Neill asking a stay of execution for time to find help for Byomin.

Van Aken said Lorain County Bar Assn. officers told him Byomin had a fair trial and was defended competently by court-appointed attorneys.

Those attorneys appealed his conviction to the appellate and state supreme courts without compensation, the officers pointed out. They also participated at their own expense in hearings before the Pardon and Parole Commission and the governor. They declined to appeal to the federal court.

Statute provides for payment of court-appointed attorneys in first degree murder cases at the discretion of the trial court. Van Aken said such fees are only a fraction of usual amount paid for such services.

Byomin's problem is to get legal help in preparing papers necessary for further appeal. If those papers win a review, the highest court then would appoint counsel to present Byomin's plea.

Byomin's attorneys claimed the death sentence was unwarranted because the fatal shooting was not premeditated. They said he likely would have been convicted of second degree murder if the victim had not been an officer.

The prosecution said Byomin was carrying a gun illegally while on parole from federal prison for armed robbery and was determined to shoot it out with Smith in a pursuing police car rather than submit to capture.

The pursuit followed an argument with others over his attention to Mrs. Helen Bristow in Wellington.

O'Neill had a 46-million-dollar balance when his budget went into effect July 1, 1957, but it was down to 38 million the first of this month.

Skipton said it would be under 1 million the first of next month but predicted the level "will be back up to about 30 millions by the end of December."

"Tax collection trends of today indicate that my prediction is a safe one. They are better than required to make it true," he asserted.

Sales taxes, biggest single source of state revenue, jumped ahead of the weekly collection period last year for the first time in mid-November. But cumulative collections still trailed those for the

Arctic Circle Village Gets Help from U.S. Church Folks

BEAVER, Alaska (AP)—This little Arctic Circle village is more snug and happy than it has been for years because friendly church workers from all parts of the United States answered its appeal for help.

A work camp of the American Friends Service Committee made a summer job of rehabilitating the community, mainly through building log cabins.

Beaver, founded in 1910 by a Japanese trader, was originally a point of supply on the Yukon River for the Chandalar gold mines.

Gold mining declined. The community turned to trapping. Fur prices dropped. Tuberculosis sapped the people's strength. In recent years the village has been largely on relief.

Moses Cruikshank, a resident, appealed for help. He said poverty and poor health had left the village without manpower, which made it difficult to improve living conditions. Their homes were, he said, drafty, overcrowded and in danger of being undermined by the Yukon River.

A group of young church volunteers—men and women—flew north. They worked 48-hour weeks, without pay, sawing lumber, building houses and driving tractors in the work camp.

In a large log cabin loaned by a trader the group cooked, ate and gathered in the evenings. They slept in three canvas huts. Dr. John Ferger, Dryden, N.Y., was the camp leader. When he wasn't doing carpentry he maintained a clinic where his main job was pulling teeth.

Only a couple of the campers had more than the most rudimentary skill in handling tools. Three well-trained men from the village taught the group how to build cabins.

No one grumbled or shirked when the work proved to be harder than practically anybody expected. Some of the girls, including the youngest, 17-year-old Anore Bucknell of Seattle, learned to drive tractors.

By the end of summer the crew completed 11 cabins and had begun two others. They left a supply of materials for the villagers to finish the remaining pair.

Ohio Air Guard Stated To Train In Wisconsin

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's 2,000 or so Air National Guardsmen will spend their two-week summer encampment at Volk Field, near Camp Douglas, Wis., next year, instead of Phelps Collins ANG Base at Alpena, Mich.

Guard officials announced the change today, but they said the dates for the annual field exercise will not be set until January.

The Ohio ANG has been going to Alpena since 1953.

Taking part in the field exercises at Volk field will be Ohio's 166th Tactical Fighter Squadron from Columbus, the 162nd from Springfield and the 164th from Mansfield, plus units of the 181st Tactical Fighter Wing from Akron, Canton, Columbus, Springfield and Mansfield.

"The state is not scraping the bottom of the barrel regardless of some reports," Skipton assured.

'Little Rock 9' Get Education Despite Fuss

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Five of the seven Negro pupils eligible to attend the closed Central High School here are taking correspondence courses from the University of Arkansas. The other two are enrolled at schools in other states.

Mrs. L. C. Bates, state president of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, said Carlotta Walls, Melba Pattilo, Thelma Mothershead, Elizabeth Eckford and Jefferson Thomas registered for mail courses last week and began studies this week with tutors.

Terrance Roberts enrolled at a Los Angeles high school shortly after Gov. Orval E. Faubus closed Little Rock's four high schools to prevent integration. Gloria Ray recently began attending classes in Kansas City, Mo.

Ernest Brown, the only Negro to be graduated from Central last year, is attending Michigan State University on a scholarship.

The last of the famed "Little Rock Nine," Minnijean Brown, attends the integrated New Lincoln private school in New York City. She received a scholarship to this school last year after she was expelled from Central because of racial incidents.

Stage star Katharine Cornell's father, Dr. Peter C. Cornell, began his career as a manager in a theater. He was a famed surgeon.
